

Inspiring and Developing Business Women

The benefits of belonging to HCWIB are many. Here are just a few:

Powerful business referral network. Monthly meetings give you the opportunity to make one-to-one connections that lead to referrals, solutions and friendships.

How-to business education. Program speakers offer practical strategies for building your business. Plus, you can learn the secrets to success by exchanging ideas about planning, marketing and other business issues with other women business owners.

Increased business visibility. HCWIB.net features an online membership directory to market and showcase your business.

Enhanced leadership development. There are plenty of ways for you to get involved by serving on the board or a committee.

Priceless emotional and moral support. Connecting with other business owners provides invaluable relationships—both personal and professional.

Want to get to know other women business owners better in a relaxed one-on-one setting? Interested in developing business contacts and building friendships? We invite you to attend one of our meetings to see for yourself how our members, programs and socials might help you grow personally and professionally.

Hill Country Women in Business

Evolve Business by Sharing Resources

Forty-eight local women business owners in the Texas Hill Country started meeting in 1985 to trade information about issues related to their businesses and seek counsel, support and friendship from their peers. This budding group formally organized under the banner, Hill Country Women in Business. Their purpose? To actively encourage and support women business owners and foster economic stability of its membership. Today, HCWIB members still share the common goal of supporting a thriving women-owned business community.

HCWIB's membership comprises a diverse group of professionals, entrepreneurs and service providers. Members hail from many industries—from transportation to manufacturing, healthcare to hospitality, technology to professional services. Our businesses range in size from sole proprietorship to hundreds of employees. Membership is open to sole proprietors, partners, and corporate owners with day-to-day management responsibility.

We meet monthly. Our programs range from strongly business-focused to fun-to-know to purely social.
